

Biosketch

Maria Pavesi, Professor of English language and Linguistics since 2002, graduated cum laude in Modern Languages and Literatures at the University of Bologna. She was awarded a one-year Fulbright scholarship and received a Master of Science in Multilingual/Multicultural Education from Florida State University. She obtained a Ph.D. in Linguistics from the University of Edinburgh (1986) and a doctorate degree in Linguistics from the University of Pavia (1990). Maria Pavesi teaches English language, English second language acquisition and audiovisual translation in the Department of Humanities, where she was in charge of the Section of Theoretical and Applied Linguistics (2012-2019) and currently is Deputy Director. She also served as Head of the Language Centre of the University of Pavia (2005 – 2008) and was the Academic Coordinator of the Pavia University Postgraduate Programme in Foreign Language Teacher Training (1999-2002, 2013 and 2015). She has been an invited speaker at several Italian and European universities, a funded Visiting Scholar at the Universities of Stockholm, Konstanz, Birmingham, Manchester, East Anglia and Murcia and Visiting Professor at the University of Roehampton.

Her research has addressed several topics in English applied linguistics and audiovisual translation. In these fields she has published widely, both nationally and internationally. She has been a reviewer for the publishers Routledge, John Benjamins, Palgrave MacMillan and for several scholarly journals, among which Textus, Journal of Pragmatics, The Translator, Meta and Target. From 2011 to 2023, she sat on the Editorial Board of Perspectives. Studies in Translation Theory and Practice. She is a member of the Scientific Committee of the series Materiali Linguistici (Franco Angeli); member of the Advisory Board of L&F Linguistica e Filologia (Italian ‘Fascia A), since 2019; member of the Scientific Committee of Status Quaestionis. Language, Text, Culture (Italian Fascia A) since 2017.

Maria Pavesi has taken part in several government-funded (MURST/PRIN) research projects on language corpora, multimodality, language learning and teaching, linguistic analysis and translation. She also had a leading role in two EU projects on CLIL and on subtitling in second language acquisition. Maria Pavesi was the Principal Investigator of the international excellence project “English and Italian Audiovisual Language: Translation and Language Learning” (2010-2012) funded by the Alma Mater Ticinensis Foundation and was a member of the core team on the AHRC-funded networking project entitled “Tapping the Power of Foreign Film: Audiovisual Translation as Cross-cultural Mediation” led by University of East Anglia. She participated in the University of Pavia strategic theme “Towards a Governance Model for International Migration: An Interdisciplinary and Diachronic Perspective” (MIGRA- TI-N) (2015-2017). Since 2005 she has co-ordinated the development of the Pavia Corpus of Film Dialogue, a parallel and comparable corpus of film transcriptions. Maria Pavesi is currently the Principal Investigator of the three-year nationally-funded PRIN project “The informalisation of English language learning through the media: language input, learning outcomes and sociolinguistic attitudes from an Italian perspective” grant 2020NNJTW3_001 (2022-2025).

Main Research Interests

Film translation: Sociolinguistic and pragmatic aspects

Informal language learning

English second language acquisition

Spoken English and film discourse

Corpus linguistics: creation and analysis of a specialised corpora

Content and language integrated learning (CLIL)

The English of Science

Previous teaching positions

1990-1992 Lecturer on a temporary basis of English Language at Scuola Superiore per Interpreti e Traduttori, Forlì (University of Bologna)

1992-1996 Associate Professor of English Language at the Faculty of Science - University of Pavia

1996-2002 Associate Professor of English Linguistics at the Faculty of Letters and Philosophy, University of Pavia

2002-present Professor of English Language and Linguistics at the Faculty of Letters and Philosophy and Department of Humanities, University of Pavia

Recent research projects and networks

The three-year PRIN project Maria Pavese coordinates as PI probes Italian university students' private worlds and the undetected processes which are shaping English informal learning and use. It studies the degree, type and modality of media exposure, while engaging with the outcomes of informal language learning and learner-users' beliefs and orientations to English as a native language, foreign language and lingua franca. The project comprises four Research Units representing different Italian geographical areas: the University of Pavia, University of Pisa, University of Salento, University of Catania. Maria Pavese's research has focused on the construction and validation of the project questionnaire; the analysis of the results of the c.a. 4,000 valid questionnaires; the longitudinal study of selected respondents - their CAF development and emic stances.

As a member of University of Pavia strategic theme "Towards a Governance Model for International Migration: An Interdisciplinary and Diachronic Perspective" (MIGRA- TI-N) (2015-2017), she developed an interest in university students' exposure to English in informal language learning contexts, which has resulted in the recent co-authored monograph "Informal contact with English" (2020).

Maria Pavese is actively involved in the development and analysis of the Pavia Corpus of Film Dialogue (PCFD). The corpus has been created to investigate translated and non-translated English and Italian audiovisual dialogues on their own, in parallel and contrastively. At present the POS-tagged PCFD runs up to about 1,000,000. Maria Pavese's research on the PCFD currently focusses on the translation of address and swearing and audiovisual dialogue as language input in the informal learning of L2 English.
